

Thomas Lickiss

Senior Vice President, Head of Business Risk
Global Financial Institutions
International Group
Wells Fargo & Company

Tom Lickiss is a senior vice president and the head of business risk for Wells Fargo Global Financial Institutions (GFI). Based in San Francisco, Tom oversees global compliance, operational, and credit risk for GFI.

GFI is a relationship-focused business that provides financial institutions with credit, trade, international payments, foreign exchange, financial risk management, corporate trust, and treasury and investment management products and services.

Tom joined Wells Fargo in 2006 to build and develop the Financial Intelligence Unit (FIU). In this role, and as a part of the Operational Risk Group, Tom worked closely with the lines of business, audit, and the regulatory community to ensure effective management of anti-money laundering risk for the company.

Prior to joining Wells Fargo, Tom served as a special agent with the United States Secret Service and had prior roles in information security, sales, and banking.

Tom earned a B.A. degree in political science and an M.B.A. degree from Saint Mary's College of California. He is also a Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialist.
